PROJECTS

Bella Italia   React, JSX, Materialize, CSS, HTML

An innovative, subscription-based Italian language-learning platform. Built with React components, data mapping, and props. Each learning module is followed by a Javascript quiz to test your progress.

Sticky Notes   React, JSX, CSS, HTML

Used hooks, ternary operators, conditional rendering, and events to create a fully functioning note-taking app.

YouPlay   JavaScript, CSS, HTML

Play classic games right in your browser. Built the company landing page with HTML and CSS. Developed the games using Javascript.

iSnap   Materialize, CSS, HTML

Landing page for fictional travel photographer.

ABOUT ME

I am a self-taught developer who loves working in an environment that challenges me and pushes me to improve. Self-learning comes naturally to me and I enjoy working at a fast pace. In only the past three months, I have become comfortable with a long list of technologies including React, Javascript, Materialize, Node, Express, and others, and I believe this demonstrates my dedication to hard work and my passion for learning new technology.

Prior to attaining my First Class Degree in Arabic at SOAS, I taught myself many languages from Swedish to Japanese to Turkish. My linguistic background and ability to self-learn proved to be highly advantageous in my transition to programming, as I am already well versed in training myself to think in alien concepts and syntaxes, as well as having the patience to tackle new challenges.

My previous work as a Buyer at Foyles Bookshop allowed me to develop leadership skills and gave me the opportunity to work with budgets, build relationships with international stakeholders, and provide innovative ideas as part of a team.
